

Come and join us in Dundee for a fun day of singing and socialising, featuring composer Paul Mealor, on Saturday 17 September. You'll have the opportunity to sing two great pieces of the choral repertoire: Gabriel Fauré's much-loved Requiem and Handel's majestic Zadok the Priest. You'll also be able to join in one of the very first performances of Paul Mealor's Jubilate Deo (first performed at the Carnegie Hall, New York, in February 2016). And of course you'll be able to enjoy the romantic colours of the magnificent Caird Hall organ, played by Dundee city organist Stuart Muir.

The hall will be open for registration from 1300, when tea and coffee will be available for singers. We will rehearse between 1400 and 1730, with a break in the middle. The informal performance will take place at 1900. The hall café-bar will be open afterwards, allowing you to socialise with fellow singers and with Paul.

There's plenty of time between the rehearsal and the performance for you to find a bite to eat at one of the nearby restaurants. The hall is right in the centre of Dundee.

Singers' places cost £15 each (£13 for FOCHO members, £5 for students and schoolchildren).

Audience tickets are available separately for £5—please book these via the box office:

Paul Mealor has been described as 'the most important composer to have emerged in Welsh choral music since William Mathias' (New York Times, 2001). Topping the Classical Charts for six weeks with his bestselling album, A Tender Light (featuring Tenebrae Choir and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra) in November 2011, he also broke records by being the first classical composer to hold both the classical and pop chart number 1 at the same time in December 2011, securing the UK Christmas No 1 with his piece for The Military Wives Choir and Gareth Malone, Wherever You Are. It is the fastest selling single since Elton John's Candle in the Wind. Also, in April of 2012 Mealor was voted the nation's favourite living composer during the UK Classic FM Hall of Fame.

Born in St Asaph, North Wales in 1975, Paul Mealor studied composition privately as a boy with William Mathias and later with John Pickard, and at the University of York with Nicola LeFanu and in Copenhagen with Hans Abrahamsen and Per Nørgård. Since January 2003 he has taught in the Music Department at the University of Aberdeen where he is Professor of Composition.

Mealor was catapulted to international stardom in April 2011, when 2.5 billion people (the largest audience in broadcasting history) heard his motet Ubi caritas performed by the choirs of Westminster Abbey and Her Majesty's Chapel Royal, conducted by James O'Donnell at the Royal Wedding of HRH Prince William and Catherine Middleton (now TRH The Duke & Duchess of Cambridge) at Westminster Abbey. It since topped the Classical singles charts in the USA, UK, Australia, France and New Zealand.

Mealor is the first President of 'Ty Cerdd'—Wales's National Centre for music making and Vice-President of the Llangollen International Eisteddfod and the North Wales International Music Festival. He was appointed a Free Burgess of The City of Aberdeen in 2012 by The Lord Provost of Aberdeen, and is President and Patron of many Welsh and Scottish organisations.
